RSV Construction Services Hires New CFO

VANCOUVER, Wash. – RSV Construction Services, a Vancouver-based construction company that specializes in new construction, remodeling, renovations and tenant improvements, recently hired Karen Johnson to the position of Chief Financial Officer.

“Because assisting our clients with assembling the best financing available has always been of the utmost importance, Karen’s arrival at RSV exemplifies our continued commitment to that level of service, which is even more critical in today’s strained economic times,” said Ron Frederiksen, president of RSV.

As CFO, Johnson will oversee and manage RSV’s financials and allow the company to look for further growth opportunities.

Most recently, Johnson was the Chief Operations Officer of Metro One Telecommunications where she oversaw a nationwide call center network that included management of daily operations and financial performance.

Johnson holds a bachelor of arts in psychology from St. Olaf College and has completed post-graduate work in finance and accounting. She has also worked as a certified public accountant at the management level with a national accounting firm.

About RSV Construction Services

For more than 35 years, Vancouver-based RSV Construction Services has become well known for managing complex new construction, remodeling, renovation and tenant improvement projects. Unique among general contracting firms, RSV routinely works with teams of highly skilled design-build professionals who collaborate to solve clients’ problems and to meet clients’ budgets and construction goals. RSV is among the area’s top 20 commercial construction companies, based on gross billings.
